Thanks for allowing us to be a part of your day.
This booklet is designed to help you through the process. Be sure to refer back to it during your planning.

The most important thing to remember:
we work at your pace.

Curly Tree Photography

THANK YOU

We're so excited to be a part of your special day! Sometimes the whole process can be quite overwhelming and the last thing we want to do is put extra pressure on you. Because of this, feel free to contact us as much or as little as you like either by email, phone or text. Alternatively, come into our warehouse for a sit down chat.

In the months leading up to your wedding, we'll be in regular contact and keep a keen eye on your Pinterest account, if you have one. Please try to include no more than 20-30 images and review them often, deleting any no longer relevant. Make sure all images are clear and accurately represent your ideas. If they're not an exact match, leave comments about what you do and don't like to help us get a better understanding - see next page for more details.

We'll also ask you to come into the warehouse a few times to go through your Design Brief. Don't be surprised if we cover the same things, we just want to make sure your ideas haven't changed and draw out any little details you might not have elaborated on. We may have a lot to say or only a little, it all depends how refined we think your design is. Please view your Design Brief as a work in progress, something that can be regularly updated and added to. We'll keep it on file so the whole team can access it.

When emailing us, please note that we're away from our warehouse over the weekends - Friday to Monday - setting up and delivering our weddings. Because of this, we may not always get the chance to reply straight away. In general, we're usually able to reply to short, concise emails much quicker than longer more detailed ones. If you need an urgent response to anything, please call the warehouse.

Finally, always remember that any emotions you are experiencing are completely normal. Some of our clients are super relaxed and excited, others can be a little stressed and overwhelmed. However you're feeling, we're here to wipe away the tears or crack open the bubbly, and make the process as easy as possible.

The month before your wedding we expect to hear from you a lot! We'll also aim to get you in to see us 1-2 weeks before your big day to triple check the details. This will help us to ensure everything runs perfectly.

In the week leading up to your wedding you are our sole focus. We'll be here waiting in the wings ready to do whatever is required. The reality is, things can change at the last minute for whatever reason, and we're more than happy to be flexible and accommodate this. Printed items, such your seating plan, are created at this point, so never feel bad about asking for changes.

A final point to remember is: be honest. If you don't like a style, suggestion or idea, say so. We don't get offended, it's all part of the process.

If you have any questions or concerns at anytime, please contact us via phone, email or come in for a chat.

PINTEREST DESKTOP INSTRUCTIONS

- 1 If you don't have one already, create a Pinterest account.
- 2 To follow us, find our page by searching for 'The Wedding Designer'; click Follow.
- 3 Go back to your profile and create a new board by clicking on the + icon. Call it your names, wedding date and venue e.g. Sarah & Katie - 09.09.19 - 48 Watt St. Make it secret by turning on the Secret toggle.
- 4 You'll then need to add 'The Wedding Designer' as a Collaborator. To do this, click the Invite button and type in 'tweddingd' to find us, click Invite and then click Done.

A secret board is only visible to you and the people you invite to view it.

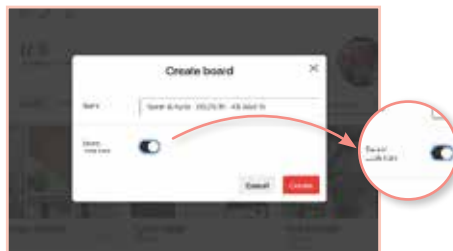

When you add a Pin to a secret board, it won't show up anywhere else on Pinterest. This includes the category sections, search results, your followers' home feeds, your own home feed or even the Pins section of your profile.

Your secret boards are at the bottom of your profile. Just scroll down to see them.

GETTING YOUR BOARD RIGHT

To create a Pinterest board that does a good job of reflecting what you want, please keep it fresh and concise. In addition, make sure you offer clear direction by adding comments to each image that you upload explaining what, in particular, you like about it. This will enable us to form a complete picture of your style and preferences.

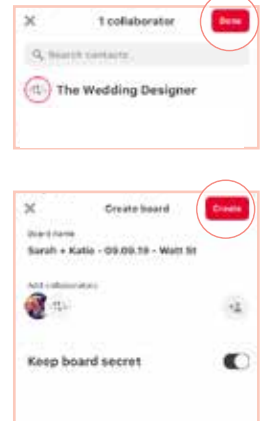

Pinterest has added a handy new feature to categorise Pins on your board called Sections. Use this to separate you Pins into dresses, ceremony, reception, florals and graphics.

When it comes to Pins, less is more. Because of this, make sure you regularly review and revise yours so that they accurately represent the styling, look and feel you're going for.

YOUR TEAM

Throughout the process, you'll have a dedicated team of designers. They'll contact you when needed, but feel free to reach out anytime.

BRINGING THE ELEMENTS TOGETHER

THE BIG PICTURE BIT

Jess and Emma are your styling team. They'll be your point of contact throughout the process. You can speak to them as much or as little as you like, whatever you're comfortable with, to discuss how the day will run, suppliers, site inspections and the overall style of your day. Together with Tracy, they'll reserve your hire items and manage your inventory list. Make sure they're aware of items you love and want but that we may not currently have as we source new things all the time. Please note, we're out onsite Friday to Monday and may not reply during this time. Leading up to and on your big day, Jess, Emma and Tracy are joined by the rest of our wedding squad which includes Wondergirl Renee and Super Tim.

THE FLOWERY BIT

You can talk to Cheryl and our floral team anytime about what flowers are available and in season for your wedding. The details are ironed out 1-2 months before your big day. Please note, we only source Australian grown varieties, and seasonal are the most cost effective. Chat to us about the look you're after, and your budget. In addition, make sure you have 3-5 inspiration images on Pinterest for your bouquet, ceremony, reception and buttonholes and that you know the numbers for your bridal party and any family members you may want flowers for, such as mums, dads and grandparents. You also need to let us know where you'll be staying so the bouquets can be delivered. We'll give you an estimate at the start based on what you've shown us and your budget. While we aim to stick to it, it can decrease or increase as your wedding evolves depending on the final look you're after.

FLORAL DESIGNER

THE SIGNAGE BIT

Nicole and our graphics team will contact you 1-2 months before your wedding day. For the whole process to run smoothly please have 1-2 typography inspiration images or a sample invitation ready to show us. If you're a big fan of lasercut designs, you can ask the girls to upgrade your package to include it. We can also make lasercut signs for after the wedding, too. Your menus for food, dessert and alcohol/drinks, your seating arrangements, any signs or quotes you need or like, and your full names can be put into our handy Excel spreadsheet. If you don't think you have it, just ask.

DELIVERIES

FLORAL STYLING

For some, florals are a very important part of their wedding. We totally get this and will help you create the perfect look.

Please send through any pictures you have from Pinterest - dress colours, hair styles, shoes, bowties, flower types etc.

FLORAL DETAILS

We've included a rough guide of when popular flowers are in season but the list is by no means all-encompassing. Feel free to ask away if your ideal bloom isn't listed.

If you're unsure of the name of a particular flower or plant you love, by all means send pictures. We'll then be able to either identify it or suggest something else with a similar feel.

FLORAL BUDGET

At quote stage, we estimate how much we think you'll need to achieve the look you're after. We aim to deliver the same but as your wedding design evolves it may go up accordingly. Alternatively, if towards the end you've blown the budget on other items such as your honeymoon or a new pair of shoes, we can adjust costs to our minimum spend, but be aware it will impact the overall look.

To help in the planning, have a think about quantities for the following floral items:

FLORAL FAQS

My floral budget seems higher than I expected, why?

Mainly because we prefer you to have a worst-case scenario now instead of weeks out from your wedding. To work it out, we divide your floral requirements into areas - Ceremony, Cocktail Hour, Reception - then divide that again into key areas and factor in a cost to cover each part. The more areas and the bigger the spaces, the more that may be required. Installation is generally the largest cost. Chatting to us about where you can bring down your budget will happen over the course of your planning. Please also be aware that we have a level and style we're known for that we'd like you to see at your event.

What if I haven't decided exactly what I want yet?

Good! We'd prefer that you evolve your style and design with your budget in mind. If you'd like to spend less, curve your taste toward less full options or vice versa. This is exactly why we give you an estimate to work with. You can decide on specifics closer to the date, as well as whether you want more or less focus on the ceremony and installations instead of table flowers. Please note, menu options like shared banquet plates may require substantially less table flowers to make room for food.

I want to spend less than what you have estimated, can I?

Absolutely! Let us know if you have a figure in mind you want to stick to. We're very skilled at getting the most out of every floral budget. We don't want you to spend a fortune on flowers, and we'll happily talk you through realistic expectations and point out key areas to focus on for the biggest impact.

You haven't quoted specific flower types or styles, how do I know I'm getting what I want?

Mainly because your style and taste will evolve, and we don't want you to feel like you're committing to a style so far in advance from your big day. Our floral designers can certainly tell you what's in season and suggest flowers that will suit your style, but this may or may not mean much to you. Rest assured, we'll always source the highest quality in season flowers for you.

What if I need to make some additions?

That's fine. We fully expect your needs to change over time and doing so may not necessarily increase your budget. That's because things like extra corsages or flower crowns use only small quantities of flowers.

I probably have heaps more questions I can't think of right now...

We completely understand. Every week will bring more questions and thoughts as you go down the planning road. Send us an email, give us a call or come in and have another client meeting, whatever suits your schedule.

FLORAL STYLE

Sometimes it's hard to articulate your likes and dislikes, so have a go at answering the below. This isn't homework, it's just to help you start thinking about what you want.

What style/theme/feel are you after? E.g. romantic/colourful/soft/bright/elegant etc.

What colours would you like to use?

Do you like structured/neat or natural/messy flowers?

What flowers do you hate/love? Do you have a favourite flower?

Do you like greenery/texture?

6

Bouquets: Small/medium/large? Trailing/messy/round? How many?

7

Buttonholes + corsages: Wrist/pin? How many?

8

Hair flowers: Full crown/half crown/single blooms? How many?

9

Cake flowers: What is the cake size/type/colour?

10

Petals for ceremony: Do you need a basket for the petals?

11

What type of binding (ribbon) would you like to finish? E.g. satin/hessian/velvet/twine, what colour? Would you like trailing ribbons, a bow, or any personal charms attached?

12

What's your ideal budget?

13

Do you have anything you would love to see at your ceremony?
E.g. arch/wreath/garland/flowers down the aisle?

14

Do you have any vessels/vases you would love/hate to be used?
E.g. bottles/crystal/brass/ceramic/tin etc.

STATIONERY + SIGNAGE

While small, these elements let your guests know what they're doing and when, as well as where to sit and put gifts.

STATIONERY ETIQUETTE

SAVE THE DATES

Save the dates are designed to officially announce your engagement and ensure that as many of your guests as possible can attend your big day. Typically, you'll want to keep them simple. Include your names, the date and the general location (state + country). You should also mention that the formal invitation will follow. This makes it clear to guests so they don't worry they are missing any information. Keep in mind, it's also your guests first glimpse at the style and mood of your wedding so the design is important. Try to choose one that will match your wedding invitations so everything is consistent.

THE INVITATIONS

No two weddings are the same so there are no set rules on what your invitations should include. In general, they should give your guests all the details they need to know about attending your big day, as well as how to RSVP.

- Your names (may include parents names or 'Together with family...')
- The date (day, month + year)
- Ceremony time, location + address
- Reception time and location (often just a hotel or hall name is used rather than listing the full address - use your judgement)
- Cocktail hour and an indication of the food service (can be included on RSVP cards)
- Dress code (guests like to know how fancy to dress so it's a good idea to add casual or formal attire)
- RSVP instructions or reply cards to mail back

THE REPLY CARD

Your reply cards (RSVPs) should always include a 'reply by' date that allows you enough time to confirm your head count with the caterer and finalise your seating plan. 2-3 weeks is suggested, but you could allow some extra time to hunt down responses from any procrastinators who haven't yet replied. If the invite is addressed to multiple people, such as a family of four, you may want to add a line for the number of people attending. If there are menu options, include an RSVP for each invitee or a line to initial who is having what to ensure there are no mix-ups.

THE ENVELOPE

Within the envelope should be the main wedding invitation, response card, and any enclosure cards you may have. Written on the outside of the envelope is the formal name and address of your invited guests.

Be specific as to who is invited on the envelope. If kids are welcome, be sure to add their names as well or 'and family'. If the recipient is allowed a plus one, write their name plus 'and guest'. Your return address should be included on the back flap or upper left corner of the envelope on a label or handwritten.

ENCLOSURE CARDS

Enclosure cards provide your guests with additional wedding day details such as location, directions and/or a map, website information, accommodation details and more. Their design is typically similar to your RSVP cards for consistency. Ask your stationer for details and suggestions. If you have several enclosure cards or RSVPs, a bellyband, ribbon or string is a nice feature to hold it all together.

THANK YOU CARDS

Saying thank you to your friends and family who attend your wedding is perhaps one of the most important details. Don't wait to order your thank you cards until after the occasion - it's easy to get caught up and forget them altogether. If you order them with your invitations, you'll have them on hand ready to tackle as soon as you have some free time.

WHEN TO SEND

Invitations should go out 6-8 weeks before the wedding with the exception of destination weddings. For weddings involving travel, they should go out at least 3 months ahead of time, but up to 6 months is not uncommon if a save the date wasn't sent initially.

Save the dates are becoming more and more critical, especially when planning a summer wedding when weekends book up fast and guests may have several weddings to attend. If you're sending save the date cards, they should go out 6-8 months before your big day.

Thank you cards should include handwritten touches and be sent within 2 months of your wedding.

SIGNAGE

As part of your wedding package, the following will be created for you:

- Welcome sign - printed on foam core board with wood or white background
- Wishing well sign - printed + framed
- Bar menu - printed + framed
- Menu - printed per person
- Seating plan - displayed in a way discussed with your stylist
- Place cards - printed
- Table numbers - printed
- Instagram sign
- Unplugged sign

You can substitute any of the above for another sign option you may like to incorporate.

Before we get started, there are just a few things we'll need from you:

1. Seating plan
2. Bar menu
3. Food menu

We'll send you a spreadsheet to help you compile the information.

For the design and wording, please feel free to send through anything you've found on Pinterest that you like. Alternatively, we can create a similar vibe to your invites if you send us a copy.

NOTE: This information needs to be supplied to us two weeks prior to your big day and must be in a typed word document or similar. Hand written documents won't be accepted.

UPGRADE TO LASERCUTTING

You can upgrade your package to include lasercut elements for all of your signage and styling inclusions.

WHAT IS LASERCUTTING?

Laser cutting is the process of using a powerful laser to cut and/or engrave items from flat sheets of material like plastic, wood and other materials. It gives a luxe, tactile 3D element to your designs.

From clear acrylic menus with white etched details to rustic timber with cutouts or layered gold mirror on white acrylic signage, we can do it all.

See overleaf for examples of lasercut signage.
